Assignment:

At the end of this unit, you will write an 800-1000 word strong response essay in which you respond to the article you previously summarized.

See the "Writing Project" in Ch. 6

for details about how to plan and organize a strong response essay. A few notes:

- You may choose to incorporate rhetorical critique, ideas critique, and/or reflective response.
- Because our essay is fairly short and we have all read the same articles, I would like for you to only include a short summary within the introduction paragraph. That is, you should follow Framework 6.2
- Links to an external site.
- EXCEPT combine the Introduction, Summary, and Thesis into a single paragraph.
- You will need to cite the article in MLA 9th edition style at the end of your essay. You may copy from the correct citation format from the page where the articles are provided.
- Remember, the key to a response essay is sharing what you think about the article. Be careful not to just summarize what the article has said. Even if you agree with the article, you need to explain why!
